

Gregorian Calendar Explained by Shadwell

Sets Leader Straight On Inaccuracy in Issue Of December the 29th

Editor, The Leader, Sir:

Your newspaper should be congratulated on your inclusion of a reference to the Calendar in your issue of Dec. 29.

However, the story contains a serious error and as numbers of our people—especially the children—may consider the record you give as accurate, I deem it desirable to bring the matter to your attention.

You speak of the "Gregorian Calendar" being devised and presented to the world in 1582, and you leave readers to infer that the Ancient Egyptians had but one type of year.

Those statements are not so. And a short survey of Sir J. Gardner Wilkinson's "Manners and Customs of the Ancient Egyptians" (Dr. Samuel Birch's Edition) will prove this.

To begin with, Pope Gregory XIII did not "invent" our calendar, nor was his variation to what we now call "New Style" as you give it.

It was in fact modified in the year 1582 AD—almost three centuries before you say, and was adopted in England in 1752, though the Copists and Greeks continued with the old style. Indeed the Greeks retained the old-style till the year 1923.

Anyone reading your account would be apt to conclude that the Egyptians merely had a year of 365 days. That, it is true, was the Egyptian civil solar year, as you have it. And that civil year was used by them for the common epochs and calculations of the people, as used for the dates of their kings, ages of men and so forth. However, they employed by the priests for astronomical purposes was calculated from the heliac rising of the "Dog-star." So, this to that of the ensuing year and consisted of 365 1/4 days. By this is meant that every fourth year a year was intercalated, making it 366 days. That same plan was carried over with slight variations to Roman times and hence came the Julian calendar (named for Julius Caesar). Indeed, the intercalated year was afterwards adopted by the Christian Copts in Egypt.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the Julian Calendar was that the five days before the 600 for the civil year was that the five days of what were holidays were added to the months of January, March, May, July, September and November which gave them 31 days each. The sixth day was taken from February. But in 28 B.C., the calendar was modified by Augustus who gave his month of August, 31 days also. He reduced February to 28 days and took September's extra day to October and November's extra day to December.

It was however the fractions which upset the accuracy of the calendar and which caused a further modification of the Julian Calendar to be styled anew. The reason is that the true solar year contains a slight fraction less than 365 1/4 days, so that by 1582 the calendar was about ten days ahead of the solar year, and as a consequence it was ordained for Roman Catholics that October the 5, 1582, Old Style, should be denominated the 15, New Style. Moreover, so as to avoid future error, as far as convenient, every centesimal year (namely 1000, 1700, 1800 etc.) should be a leap year only when divisible by 400 exactly, while other years are leap-years when exactly divisible by four. It was for this reason that the year 1900 was NOT a leap-year.

Ten years prior to the Gregory Thirteenth reformation of the Calendar, he had celebrated the massacre of Saint Bartholomew's Day with a "Te Deum." This was the awful slaughter of several thousands of Christian Huguenots during the reign of Charles the IX. It is undoubtedly one of the most revolting chapters in the history of those who confess and call themselves Christians.

If I have in any way helped to correct the inaccuracy of your splendid topic, it will be time well spent.

Respectfully,
GILBERT C. SHADWELL,

Smith College Club To Hear J. R. Carlson

John Roy Carlson, author of "The Plotters" and "Undercover," will be the guest speaker at an open meeting of the Smith College Club of Long Island to be held in St. Mary's School, Cathedral ave., Garden City, Wednesday at 2:15 P.M. He will reveal many personal experiences as a reporter and investigator of subversive groups. Mrs. Samuel Hemshaw of Garden City is the program chairman.

An Armenian by birth, Mr. Carlson became an American citizen in 1926 and attended the School of Journalism of New York University. Not long after his graduation in 1932, he did research for Fortune Magazine on Fascist activities in America. This work was the impetus that set him upon what appears to be a life-time career. Using many disguises and posing as a Nazi, Mr. Carlson spent four and a half years in the Nazi "Underworld" in his investigation of their nefarious activities. Throughout this time, he was working closely with many official American organizations and agencies.

During the war, Mr. Carlson lectured extensively before "Army Orientation" classes on "The Enemy Within" and has since continued to devote much of his energy gathering evidence against the exponents of extreme nationalism.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET If the Brakes Don't Work Just Hit Something Cheap

By BILLY ROSE

A fellow tried to sell me a helicopter the other day. He told me I could hop from the roof of my theatre to my place in Westchester in 20 minutes, and added that it was as easy to drive as a car. I told him I wasn't interested because I couldn't drive a car. How come? Didn't I ever try and learn? Just once. And here's what happened...

One day several summers ago, my wife said, "I wish you'd learn how to drive. Every time you want a paper or a pack of cigarettes, I've got to stop what I'm doing and chauffeur you into the village."

"Okay," I said, "if you'll play teacher."

Next morning I crawled into the car beside Eleanor. "Just turn this fidgeter over," she began, "push in this d i n g u s, pull out this doohickey, step on this wing-doodle, press down o' this thing a m a b o b, and you're all set to go."

"What's this gizmo?" I asked. "The hand brake," she said. "You throw it on quickly in case of emergency."

"What happens if the brakes don't work?" I asked. "Hit something cheap," advised my spouse.

A MOMENT LATER the car went hiccupping down the road. Then for a mile it went smooth as you please. A feeling of confidence came over me, the same feeling all new drivers get just before the lights go out. I pressed down on the gas.

"The pistons seem to be knocking," I said professionally. "Pistons nothing," said Eleanor. "Those are my knees."

Everything went fine until we got to the traffic light in the village. I forgot to press the hiccup-madoodle on the gillooley and the car stalled. The lights changed from green to red, and from red back to green. A cop came over.

"What's the matter?" he asked. "Haven't we got any colors you like?"

After switching the radio on and off, I suddenly pressed the right thing. In the order of the way it happened, I grazed the cop, skidded through the safety zone, clipped the fender on a bus, and came to rest with my bumper against a fire plug. The cop stalked over,

Norman's Sale Marks Its 24th Anniversary

January Bargains Give Chance to Stock Up Very Economically

Norman's, 83 South Main st., is celebrating its 24th anniversary, with a month-long sale of unprecedented bargains. If women of Freeport take advantage of the prices listed in an advertisement elsewhere in The Leader they can well stock up most economically for the balance of the winter season.

Norman Kuperamid and his wife started in business at the South Main st., address, on Dec. 23, 1925, with one salesgirl assisting them. That girl, Mrs. Elsie Carpenter, has been with them ever since and has watched the business grow until now a staff of six is required to handle the increased business. The commonplace store that served Norman's originally, has been modernized and improved from time to time as business expansion required, until it reached its present proportions.

Mrs. Sally Archer, another of the salesladies has been with the Kuperamids 22 years and the rest of the help averages from 10 to 12 years in continuous service showing the cordial relationship that exists among employees and their help. Mr. Kuperamid is active in various ways in the village. He has been treasurer of Temple B'nai Israel since 1940, is a member of Justice Lodge B'nai B'rith, Sunrise Lodge of Masons, William Clinton Story Post, A. L., the Freeport Merchants Association and has served as a director of the Freeport Chamber of Commerce for 12 years. His wife is a member of Justice Chapter, B'nai B'rith and of the Sisterhood of Temple Israel.

Children's Theatres Moves To Spartan Temple Saturday

Headquarters of the Children's Theatre Project will be moved to Spartan Temple starting Saturday, Miss Wyneta Fisher, the director announced today. The schedule of classes will continue as in the past except that the dramatic group will meet between 1 and 2 P.M. instead of from 12 to 2, and Mme. Francelli's Saturday ballet class will meet in the temple between 3 and 4 P.M.

Fifty of the older members of Children's Theatre had a rollicking good time at a New Year's Eve party given by the directors on Saturday afternoon in Spartan Temple. The youngsters began their festivities with square dancing, which touched off a spirit of frivolity that carried through the entire afternoon. Games, community singing and social dancing were topped off with refreshments, including cookies and candy, a 20-inch ice cream cake and the traditional punch bowl was refilled again and again.

Art Henry, tap instructor, joined in the fun, entertaining with sleight of hand tricks, and ended the Virginia Reel with his famous Irish jig. Mrs. Ruff, vocal instructor, led the community singing and a high point of the party was the surprise appearance of Frederic D. Wood, who was welcomed back with delight by both children and directors.

At the close of the party Miss Fisher and Mrs. Mildred L. Miller, directors, distributed their presents to each of the children—white T-shirts bearing the inscription "Children's Theatre" in black, to be worn over their leotards, the school uniform.

Mrs. Helen Bullwinkel, home nursing director has urged applicants to register with her at the Chapter House at once either by letter or phone, Garden City 7-1160. Double classes will be scheduled if registration warrants it, she added.

Letter in Dr. J. E. Cummins' Files Shows Esteem in which He was Held

The esteem in which the late Dr. J. Elmer Cummins was held by his patients is evidenced in a letter found among his effects after his death. The epistle is from a patient who took in 1935 to be treated by a Dr. Locke who had a reputation for the kindly consideration given those who came under his care. And the writer credits Dr. Cummins with having had the same characteristics as the Canadian doctor.

The letter reads as follows:

"I have brought my sister here to Dr. Locke to try to get some help for what seems to me a slowly dying left leg. We are living at the home of the village blacksmith trying to make ourselves believe it is spring in spite of the mud and rain and sickly looking geranium plants in cold red brick farmhouse windows. She saw Dr. Locke yesterday and I believe he will help her. From him the patient goes to a woman who lays the patient on a couch and adjusts leg muscles. From there the patient sits on a stool and has neck and arms adjusted. This is repeated in the afternoon.

"To some it is very painful, to some it is not, but all are brave, confidant and cheerful. I have heard little children scream and then offer the other arm or leg. I have seen old ladies with arthritic torture in their eyes smile helpfully at the next one. All are helped and all believe in Dr. Locke. One man came here and could only move his eye balls. Yesterday he smiled a greeting to me from his armless wheel chair.

"I was a new-comer and he feels almost like a host. Little children with infantile paralysis are learning to walk. They all love their doctor. This may be an old story to Dr. Cummins, but I just want to write and tell you something of what I have seen demonstrated in this little town.

"A great deal of it is his work and then to a great deal of it is Dr. Locke and I just wanted to say to you that this same thing I am seeing in Dr. Locke, I have seen in you too. Here and there and many places I have met it where you are concerned and you are the one other doctor I have met where I have seen it. It is a God-given gift. I am no sentimental worshiper at any doctor's shrine, but I do feel that for the greater gift that is in you you should know how we feel. This man has their faith and he knows it. So should you."

Technical Courses Offered at Farmingdale

The Industrial-Technical Division of the Long Island Agricultural and Mechanical College at Farmingdale, will offer several evening courses in Industrial Fields, beginning Monday Jan. 16. These courses, open to all interested adults, are designed to fit the needs of men and women who work in industries on Long Island and the Metropolitan area. Classes will meet one evening a week for a period of 12 weeks, at the Institute's Industrial-Technical Division, 520 Conklin st. Farmingdale.

Course offerings include classes in air conditioning, electrical wiring, electronics, industrial electricity, radio and television servicing, aircraft operations and mechanical technology. Other courses including both theory and laboratory practice are offered in Building Construction, Automotive Mechanisms, Refrigeration and Heating, Commercial Art, Drafting, Tool-making and Tool Design.

Essential to most of these courses is proficiency in mathematics. Several courses in this field, including algebra, trigonometry, and analytic geometry, will be offered. These courses are planned to help men in industry who are deficient in the mathematics needed for electrical work, machine shop work, blueprint reading, and engineering work. Special courses may be developed on request.

Of unusual interest to early registrants for the semester beginning on Jan. 16, are the courses in boat design and showcard writing. Two courses which are concerned with the elements of boat design consider buoyancy, displacement and center of gravity problems.

Thirteen courses in Agriculture and Ornamental Horticulture will be offered at the Institute's Main Campus on Melville Road, Farmingdale. A registration form and a catalogue of Evening Courses may be obtained by writing to Wilson P. Merritt, Assistant Director, in charge of Evening Courses, 520 Conklin st., Farmingdale.

Join the Guard and Operate a Tank

Operating or working on a 42-ton tank should be the realization of any he-man in Freeport. An opportunity to do just that is afforded veterans of World War II and other young men by the change of status of the local State Guard unit from the 101st Military Police to the 142d Heavy Tank Battalion.

The change affords opportunity for 100 additional men to join the guard, which soon will be located in its own building on Babylon Turnpike at Lakeview ave. Temporarily a truck shed, nearing completion, will be used, and later a huge armory is to be erected for the use of the local units of the battalion.

Those desiring to join the new unit may do so by applying at the present headquarters in the Municipal Building until the armory is ready for occupancy.

REFLECTIONS

By Edmund R. Wernicke

I Shall Be Hurt Again

Though I fall to the earth in agony
From the weapons of my foe,
Though the dust grow red with the blood of me,
The heat of my heart grow slow;
I shall crawl away to where time and care
My terrible wound may heal,
While I study the foe, while I repair
My armor and whet my steel.
The enemy's ways shall be kept in mind:
It shall not be as before;
And the wound I suffer can leave behind
Just a little scar, no more.

But I shall be powerless to defend
My heart from the hand of trust;
I carry no weapon to greet my friend,
Nor shield against sudden thrust.
And although there may be no crimson tide,
Still my heart shall bleed through tears;
Though there be no scar, I shall bear inside
My pain through a thousand years.
But he whom I love shall I soon forgive,
So great are the hearts of men;
We shall laugh together, and love, and live—
And I shall be hurt again.

Redeemer Church Thronged At New Year's Day Masses

Parishoners of Our Holy Redeemer Church thronged in large numbers for the masses on New Year's Day, particularly the one at 12:15 when the crowd was nearly as large as that which filled the edifice to capacity on Christmas Eve.

The Rev. Father Augusta, of East New York, Brooklyn, preached at the last two masses, speaking especially on the holy year proclaimed by Pope Pius XII for 1950. He told of the throngs that have passed through the door of St. Peter's Basilica in Rome since it was unsealed, and explained the door would be closed again to remain sealed for 25 years.

Sunday, the Feast of the Holy Family, will be the annual Holy Name Society membership day and the members will attend mass and partake of holy communion. The Rev. John J. Madden, spiritual advisor, probably will be the celebrant. Jules Alber, president, elder, and his staff, will be installed at the monthly meeting of the society Monday night, Jan. 23, in the school hall.

Open House at WGGB Kept New Year's Eve

A New Year's eve party was staged by Harry Carman, owner of Radio Station WGGB, Saturday night. Local, town and county officials dropped in and were interviewed by John Froge, Mrs. Ida Chessman was hostess during the evening. Refreshments were served to the guests.

Among those who went on the air were Mayor Robert L. Donsee, Trustees Seward J. Baker, William F. Glacken, Leonard D. B. Smith and Cord Viebrock, Thomas Moore, Joseph H. Gray, Ralph L. Marshall, president of the Freeport Republican Club, G. Howard Larsen, treasurer of the Nassau County American Legion; District Attorney Frank A. Gullotta, and County Court Judge Henry J. A. ## The Leader Bookshelf

By MRS. ELIZABETH F. KELLY
Librarian, Freeport Memorial Library

"Once there was an old man and an old woman, who were lonely, so the old man set out to find a cat, a sweet fluffy cat. He walked and walked until he came to a hill covered with cats."

Cats here, cats there
Hundreds of cats
Thousands of cats
Millions and billions and trillions of cats."

"Millions of Cats" was written by Wanda Gág, published by Coward-McCann, Inc., in 1928, "and its fame, both with children and adults has been spreading ever since." The round fact for this book, a lovely picture book, was done by Wanda's brother, Howard, who was the only son of the talented Gág family. It was through the efforts of Ernestine Evans, then children's editor of Coward-McCann that the book, now so much a part of children's reading enjoyment, first appeared in print. It was a story Miss Gág had made up for youngsters in Connecticut and "one of the manuscripts from her rejection box."

Although always an artist, Wanda had also written stories for her childhood, some of which were published in juvenile magazines. The sale of these supplemented the meagre finances of the Gág family of Minneapolis. After the picture books came later, after she had become famous for her drawings and lithographs. Her one requisite was that her art must be "clever" regardless of others opinions.

These interesting facts and many more about Wanda Gág are to be found in the recent biography, "Wanda Gág: The Story of an Artist," by Alma Scott (University of Minnesota Press) $3.00. Alma identifies herself in the preface as Alma Schmidt, a girlhood friend of Wanda's during their school days in New Ulm, Minnesota, where the Gág family lived. During the summer of 1944, Mrs. Scott with her two daughters, lived with the Humphreys, Earle and Wanda in their home in Minneapolis. This gave the biographer the opportunity of checking and re-checking events which had made Wanda's life so very full, both of pleasures and of sadnesses.

Wanda was fifteen when her father died, and at this time she realized that the problem of family finances was a serious one. They had always managed to save even two sheets of drawing paper as a gift, was very precious. The resolution in Wanda's mind that they, all seven of the children would all go through high school, she had a right to continue her drawing. She carried out by the cooperation of the children and mother. There were pleasant remembrances of earlier days including the Christmas festivities for the old world atmosphere in New Ulm, added to the real meaning of the holidays.

Among the joys, too, was the diary which Wanda kept. Many of the episodes are vividly brought to life in the biography, all of which give evidence of Wanda's cheerfulness, steadfastness, humor and other fine qualities. These quotations as given in the book are from Wanda Gág's diary, "Growing Pains" (Coward-McCann, Inc., 1940).

AFTER THE BALL WAS OVER —HARRY CARMAN and ADA CHEESMAN turned in another perfect job as hosts at the annual WGGB New Year's party. Genial JOHN FROGE (Mr. News of Nassau) handled the mike with Mayor Bob Donsee, Trustees Cord Viebrock, Seward Baker, Bill Glacken, and District Attorney Frank Gullotta, among the headlining well wishers. ... Over two hundred patrons comfortably joyous at GUY LOMBARDO'S E.P.H. (Many sans reservations had to be turned away.) ... HARRY (Real Estate) BERLMAN, SID MINTZ, and the EDDIE LANDAUS (79 So. Main dress shop) among the happy greeters. ... All Freeport celebrations conducted orderly.

The K. of C. party at DAVE SHAPIRO'S Shorecrest Hotel one of the most successful yet. ... Chief Flar's Freeport Police Dept. on the alert with every man out, helping to keep the accident record at a minimum. ... It's an old Greek custom to play cards during New Year's Eve. It's a good omen for the year if you win. (One bistro owner counted out over $2,200 the morning after. He could have won a goldmine restaurant if he took the owners last bet, but being a good sport, declined to take advantage.)

MAINLY ABOUT A MOVIE Through the years many films are made but only a very few of them are so super as to win wide acclaim and support from leaders in every walk of life. HAMLET, starring Laurence Olivier, to be shown at CENTURY'S FREEPORT THEATRE starting Jan. 16, is such a picture. Your writer takes this opportunity to remind you to see this film, epic without fail. HAMLET broke all records during its exclusive New York run, and the patrons at the Freeport Theatre are offered the privilege of seeing this masterpiece because the Century Circuit left no stone unturned in order to book this picture against much competition. Although the film contains countless unforgettable scenes, the thrilling battle between Hamlet and Laertes is so credible and spectacular, that it alone is worth the price of admission. We are proud in joining the legion of newspapermen in recommending this Academy Award Winner. Put HAMLET at the top of your movie list.

EDDIE'S NOTES JULIE FOSNER (W. Merrick rd. optometrist) fulfilled this column's predictions when he and his honey said "I do." A public nod of approval to the owner Al Andrews of GHINIE'S CLEANERS on North Main st. who, while in the return of the fifty dollar bill to one of his customers. (The wife contacted this office to praise his honesty because the money was his Christmas bonus and sorely needed by the family.) We would like to add thanks. ... JOHN GREENE, popular Nassau daily Managing Editor pleasantly surprised when thoughtful HARRY CARMAN remembered his favorite beverage, Old English Cider. (But what's the story about drinking out of cups? By the way, read the bottle label, it's funnier than most radio scripts.) ... Note to Northeast Airline officials: Your charming MISS M. GARCIA at LaGuardia Airport is one of your best Ambassadors-of-Goodwill. She's movie scout material too!

DURYEA ORCHID OF THE WEEK It happened during the last few minutes of shopping before Christmas Eve in a South Main Street dress shop. The late shoppers had thinned down to a pathetic looking girl of about fifteen. Lucky that it wasn't too cold a day because her threadbare coat would never protect her frail body. Her shoes were so ragged that even a slight rain would drench her feet. She patronized the owner's wife hesitantly, then turning walked directly to a dress and meekly inquired about the price. The garment was among the larger size dresses and fairly expensive. The girl, clutching a five dollar bill, waited a long price. She saved my money all year to buy my mother a beautiful dress. She has got a Christmas present," she meekly added. The saleslady tore the tag off, swallowed the lump in her throat, and whispered that it was on sale for $3.98. The look in the young girl's eyes was worth a million dollars. And so for this fine gesture we award this week's DURYEA ORCHID CREATION to GERTRUDE LANDAU of Landau's Dress Shop at 7 So. Main st.

FREEPORTING THE NEWS MRS. AURELIO CERDAN (her dad's Fred Sorries of Henry st. overhead door company) back in town after three years in Argentina. She and her three youngsters speak Spanish like natives. Her husband served as a Firestone Co. American representative. ... Many local organizations are discovering Guy Lombardo's for their luncheons and banquets. Freeport Fire Dept. Rose 2 party included in booking list. ... Lovely MRS. MAL RUTT meeting friends after recent illness which makes us very happy. (She's a favorite.) Daughter Pat eyeing preacherman with her fiancé who's an instructor with Long Island University of Theological Arts at Railroad ave. ... Check a rumor that A.F. of L. Nassau-Suffolk chief BILL DEKONING planning to sponsor a newspaper for his 35,000 members! His men are very loyal because Bill's good deeds are legion. ... TRAY and ANNETTE EXTON, two ex-Longchamps and Barclay charmers took over the Oak Lodge, 10 Brooklyn ave., and named it THE BRANDYWYNE. See for yourself if I'm wrong.

STAGE-SCREEN-VIDEO A brother of a well-known local restaurateur is a big wheel with the new hit "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." ... BARBARA (Al E.) WHITE mulling over two forthcoming Broadway dramatic parts. (She's one of television's most promising ingenues.) ... GUY LOMBARDO'S latest Decca release "Third Man Theme" is scarier than G notes even though not yet publicized. Add new twist: Guy's request for this platter couldn't be filled by Gotham's Main Stem suppliers, but ESTHER OSTER of United Music in Webster, Mass., filled the bill. ... Rumors on the street that one of TV's biggest shows will fold.

A total of approximately 400 persons attended the New Year's Eve celebration of the Freeport Lodge of Elks, Bishop-Mulloy Council, K. of C., and William Clinton Story Post, A. L., Saturday night. The Elks had the largest attendance at their affair in the clubhouse, drawing about 250. They were dancing from approximately 10 P.M. to 4 P.M., when breakfast was served. Music was provided by Monroe Lewis and his orchestra, and C. Curtis Pilon was chairman of the committee of arrangements. Fifty couples gathered in the Shorecrest Hotel where the Knights made merry from 9 to 2. Music was provided by the council's own orchestra, directed by Arthur Knight. Grand Knight Richard A. Hungerford had charge of arrangements.

The Legion party drew 75 to the Dugout and all had a good time dancing to the music of the Sunrise Serenaders. The committee of arrangements was headed by Oscar J.

Santa Hands Out Gifts At Yearly Club Dinner

Santa Claus paid a surprise visit at the 10th annual Christmas party of the Yearly Club, composed of municipal employees, in the Sea Breeze restaurant Thursday night. He distributed various trinkets to each of which a verse was attached and which the recipient had to read aloud. The result was most humorous. George V. Maurer, superintendent of the Water Department, officiated as St. Nick.

The party was preceded by a supper, which was attended by all the members of the Village Board, Mayor Robert L. Dossie and Trustees Seward J. Bacon, William F. Bracken, Leonard D. B. Smith and Cord Viebrock—all of whom were introduced and responded briefly to the accompaniment of the Salvation Army organ loaned for the occasion by Major Ernest W. Newton, Christmas carols were sung with other songs appropriate to the winter season. Mrs. Eli Bliss led the singers. Trustee Viebrock donated candy and other delicacies for the occasion.

Deputy Village Clerk headed the committee of arrangements. Others on the committee were Mr. Maurer, Miss Marion Gilbert, Mrs. Beth Cascarelli, the president; Daniel J. Carmichael, Joseph Usica, M. Gordon Simonson, Miss Dorothy Bishop and Mrs. Alice A. Anderson.

It is not enough to be busy; so are the ants. The question is: What are we busy about?

Student Traveler Tells Rotary of European Trip

Miss Ruth Hauser, daughter of George H. Hauser, of the Garden City Rotary Club, gave an interesting account of a student tour through Europe she took last summer at the weekly supper of the Rotary Club of Freeport Thursday night in the Elks clubhouse. She showed numerous colored pictures taken on the trip, to illustrate her talk.

Among the countries visited by Miss Hauser were England, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, France and Italy. The speaker was introduced by John F. Woods of the program committee.

Christian Science

"Sacrament" is the lesson-sermon subject for Sunday in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, West Merrick rd. at Elm pl. The golden text is "The preparations of the heart in man, and the answer of the tongue, is from the Lord."

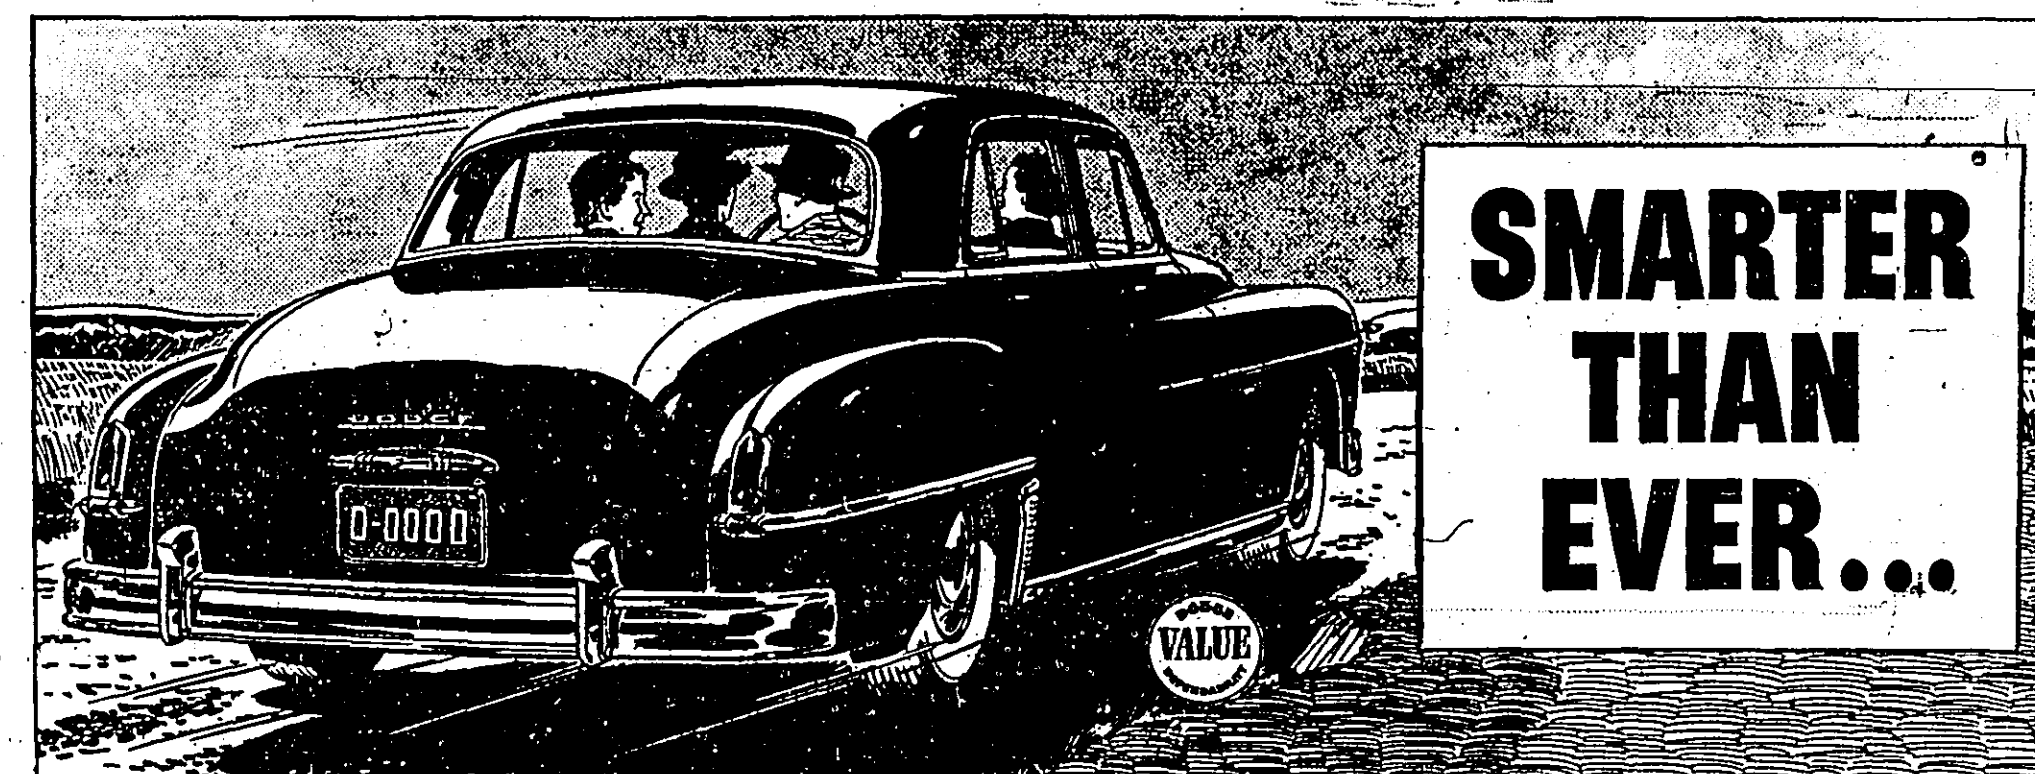

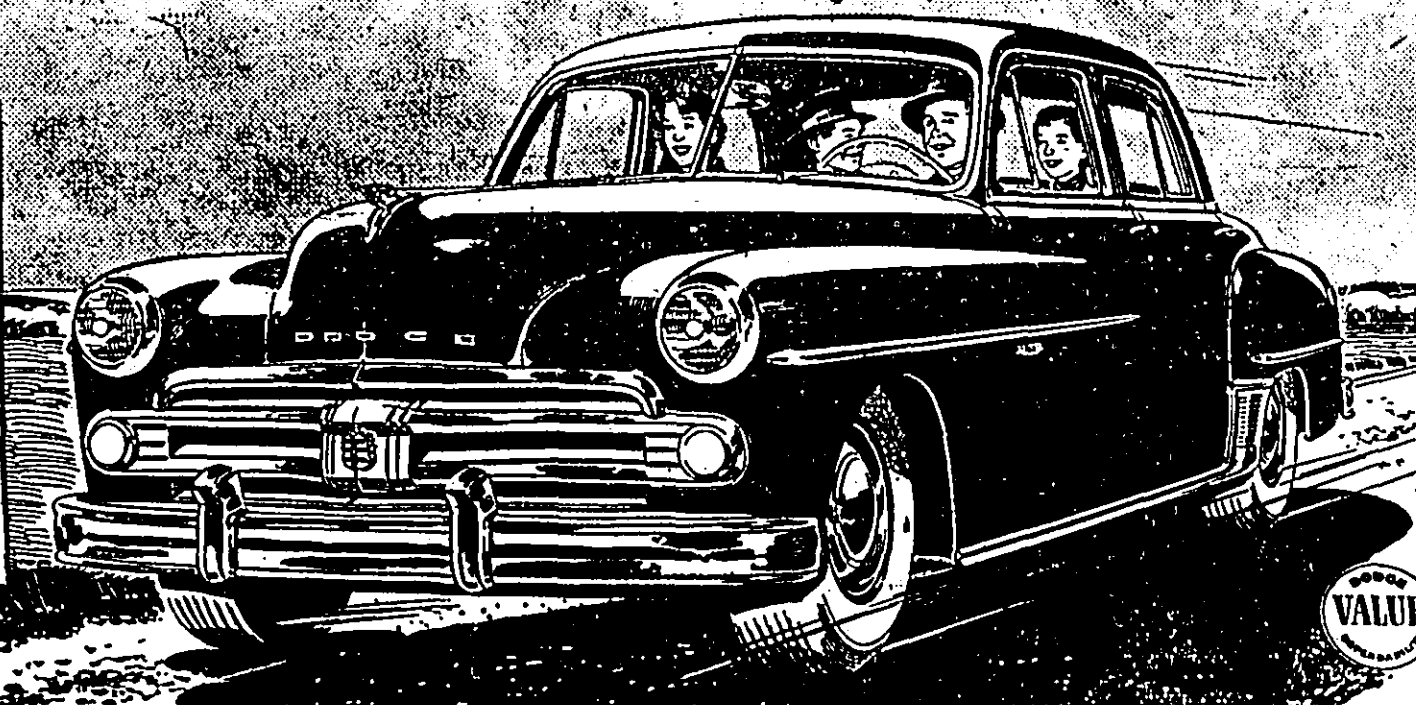

Communion works unto the Lord, and thy thoughts shall be established (Proverbs 4:1, 3).

The sermon will be from Matt. 3:13-17, King James version:

"Then cometh Jesus from Galilee to Jordan unto John, to be baptized of him. But John forbade him, saying, I have need to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me? And Jesus answering said unto him, Suffer it to be so now: for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness. Then he suffered him, and Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway out of the water: and, lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon him: and lo a voice from heaven, saying, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "When our great Teacher came to him for baptism, John was astounded. Reading his thoughts, Jesus added: 'Suffer it to be so now: for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness.' Jesus' concessions (in certain cases) to material methods were for the advancement of spiritual good. . . . Jesus' history made a new calendar, which we call the Christian era; but he established no ritualistic worship. He knew that men can be baptized, partake of the Eucharist, support the clergy, observe the Sabbath, make long prayers, and yet be sensual and sinful. . . . Without a fitness for holiness, we cannot receive holiness" (pp. 56, 20, 15).

What Can The People Believe?

When the anti-trust lawyers in Washington filed their suit to put the A&P out of business, they immediately handed out for all the newspapers of the United States a story giving in detail their "allegations" against this company.

When we published advertisements giving our side of the case, they protested, even though they had made, and have continued to make, in newspapers, in speeches and over the radio these charges that would seriously damage our business, if they were believed by the public.

Every week millions of American housewives patronize A&P stores. Many of them would not want to deal with the kind of people that the anti-trust lawyers represent us to be.

We think we have a right to protect this 90-year old business which has made it possible for millions of American families to get more and better food for their money, which is providing high-wage employment for 110,000 Americans and which is helping millions of farmers to improve the methods of distributing their produce.

No answer by us would be necessary if the anti-trust lawyers were always right.

But they, like all other human beings, can be wrong.

In this case we know they are wrong.

They have been wrong before.

In case after case they made charges against A&P which were proved in court to be utterly without foundation.

We will prove that statement right up to the hilt.

The anti-trust lawyers tell the public that they won a previous anti-trust suit against us at Danville, Illinois. They did.

What they do not tell you is that they brought case after case against the A&P in federal courts all over the United States. Before they won this case they suffered three defeats.

The anti-trust lawyers have told everybody about the time that the courts said they were right. We think you are entitled to know about the three times the courts said they were wrong.

Now we are going to tell you about the first one. In future advertisements we will tell you about all of them.

The Washington Bread Case

In April, 1941, the anti-trust lawyers brought a criminal suit in Washington, D. C.

They charged that the A&P, two grocery chain competitors, two labor unions and other good American citizens had conspired to fix the price of bread.

Can anyone imagine any charge calculated to be more damaging to a retail grocery business? They asked millions of people to believe that we were the kind of grocers who would take bread out of the mouths of poor people and make it harder for a wife and mother to feed her family.

These charges were false.

In that case it developed that the A&P and the two competitors who were charged with conspiring with us to maintain high bread prices actually sold bread cheaper than most of the other stores in Washington.

The anti-trust lawyers presented and argued their case. When they were through, Federal District Judge Allen T. Goldsborough ruled that A&P and the other defendants did not even have to put in a defense. He ordered the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

Judge Goldsborough said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all."

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

So here was a case in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against the A&P, in support of which, in the words of the court, they did not have "any evidence at all."

This was not the only time the anti-trust lawyers made charges against the A&P which the courts said were not true. In future ads we are going to tell you about these other suits. We are not going to duck, either. We are going to tell you about the criminal suit that the anti-trust lawyers won at Danville, Illinois.

The anti-trust lawyers say that they are not attacking "bigness" or efficiency. They have to say that because the courts have decided that "bigness" and efficiency and selling at low prices is not a crime.

But the fact is crystal clear that they only brought their bread suit against the big companies and against companies that sold good bread at the lowest prices; just as in this current suit they are attacking a big company that sells good food cheap.

We are going to show the American people that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency and against real competition.

The real question involved in this suit is whether businessmen are going to be encouraged to do a better and more efficient job; or whether we are going to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on anybody who gets big by giving the people more for their money.

No one can make us believe that it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.
